

Seminar on Dialogue between China and Greek Civilization

—Classic Philosophical Thoughts and Contemporary International Relations

Date: July 5, 2022

Time: 14:00-17:00 (Athens Time) ; 19:00-22:00 (Beijing Time)

Brief Introduction of the Speakers

Prof. Elias Tempelis

Dr. Elias Tempelis studied Greek Philosophy at the Universities of Athens and London (UCL). His PhD thesis was on the theory of the Neoplatonic School of Ammonius about the acquisition and the contents of our knowledge of the divine. Currently he is Professor of Greek Philosophy and Director of the Department of Humanities and Political Sciences at the Hellenic Naval Academy and a tutor at the Hellenic Open University. His books, articles and papers focus on History of Greek Philosophy and Science from Antiquity till the 20th century, Neoplatonic philosophy, Byzantine philosophy, Modern Greek Enlightenment and Philosophy of War.

Dr. Elena Avramidou

Dr. Elena AVRAMIDOU, associate professor of Philosophy, UNESCO Chair, Ionian University, Greece; Center for Hellenic Studies, Peking University, and Research Associate at the Center for Latin American Studies on China, Andrés Bello University, Chile. She has served as Educational & Cultural Attaché at the Embassy of Greece in China. She is a member of the Executive Committee of the International Confucian Association; also a member of the Working Group established by the Greek and Chinese Ministries of Culture for the Translation of Literary Works from Greek into Chinese and from Chinese into Greek. She publishes in Greek, English, Spanish, and Chinese on Greek and Chinese Philosophy, History and Culture, including the Cultural perspectives of "One Belt One Road Initiative".

Prof. Luo Anxian

Dr. Luo Anxian, professor at School of Philosophy, and vice president of the Confucius Research Institute in Renmin University of China. His main research areas include pre-Qin philosophy, Taoist philosophy, and Wei and Jin metaphysics. He has published more than 10 academic monographs and nearly a hundred academic articles. His main academic achievements are 《Void and Peaceful - Taoist Theory of Mind》 《Exploration of Confucianism and Taoism on mind》 《Harmonious Coexistence and Competitive Game》.

Prof. Ding Sixin,

Dr. Ding Sixin, professor at School of Humanities in Tsinghua University, 2013-2014 Distinguished Professor of Changjiang Scholars, winner of National Excellent Doctoral Thesis. His main research areas include Chinese philosophy, Confucian classics and the thoughts of "Jianbo". He also serves as the vice president of Chinese Zhouyi Academy and vice president of Beijing Philosophy Association. He used to be the second-level professor of Wuhan University and LuoJia Distinguished Professor. He has published more than 150 academic papers and 9 monographs including 《Research on the Thoughts of Guodian Chu Tomb Bamboo Slips》, 《Annotation of Guodian Chu Bamboo Book <Lao Tzu>》, 《Annotation of Chu Bamboo Book and Chinese Silk Book <Zhouyi>》, 《Exploration of Pre-Qin Philosophy》, 《Zhouyi Traceability and Early Yixue Research》, 《General History of Chinese Philosophy: Qin and Han Volumes》.

Moderator

Dr. Zhang Lihua, Professor at Department of International Relations, director of Research Center for China-EU Relations, Tsinghua University. Main Research Fields: China-EU Relations, Contemporary Chinese Politics, Chinese Culture and Diplomacy.

Schedule

Opening remarks:

Konstantinos Mazarakis, General Director of Aikaterini Laskaridis Foundation

Zheng Yankang, Chairman of Research Center for China-EU Relations, Tsinghua University

Main Speakers :

Prof. Elias Tempelis, Director of Department of Humanities and Political Sciences, Hellenic Naval Academy, Greece

Topic: Ancient Greek Philosophy and Contemporary World Issues

Prof. Elena Avramidou, Associate Professor of Philosophy, Ionian University, Greece

Topic: Plato on Governance: Philosopher King, Justice and War

Prof. Luo Anxian, School of Philosophy, Renmin University of China

Topic: Pluralistic Harmony and World Peace

Prof. Ding Sixin, Department of Philosophy, Tsinghua University, China

Topic: From the Quintuple Thinking to the Wu-xing Thinking: The World in the Philosophical Harmony

Closing remark:

Prof. Shi Zhiqin, Vice-Chairman of Research Center for China-EU Relations, Tsinghua University

Join Us

Zoom Account : 871 5573 3481 <https://zoom.us/j/87155733481>

Language: Chinese, English Simultaneous Interpretation

Organizer: Research Center for China-EU Relations, Tsinghua University

Co-organizer: Aikaterini Laskaridis Foundation, Greece

(scan the QR to join the meeting)

-END-